Consumption Positively Cured.

Mr. R. B. Greever, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at Will E. Collins & Co., and J. S. Haggart's drug stores.

Ann Arbor's New Route.

Memorize, Dec. 8: When navigation closes in Green Bay, the apron for loading cars onto the Ann Arbor ferries will be taken from Gladstone to Manistique, and the boats run there. This will give the Ann Arbor road a connection with the east and the Lake Superior country, as the Chicago lumber company owns a 30-mile stretch of road that runs to Munising, where connections with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad will be made. This will open up a splendid new territory for the Ann Arbor, and the boats will run all the year.

Owosso Business College.

Prof. A. J. Cadman, Owosso, Mich.—My Dear Friend: I think it essential for every young man, whether he be rich or poor, to first acquire a practical business education if possible, for when he launches out upon the vast ocean of this busy world, the better his ship is equipped with an education of this kind, the better he will be prepared to endure the many rough storms thereof, beside saving himself many a bitter and severe experience. A thorough and practical business training will secure for him a position whereby he may accumulate something for himself, and after so accumulated he will be competent to retain it. I cannot speak too highly in praise of such an education, as it has been all the world to me, and with its aid I have attained the little success which I have so far gained. I am pleased to send you this reference, as you have taken a deep interest in me. Wishing you the greatest of success, which you deserve.

Yours very truly,
H. J. Chatterton,
State Agt. Insurance.

Burton Farmers' Club.

On the 2d inst the Burton Farmers' Club met at the residence of Supervisor F. H. Rush, of Owosso township.

The topic for the day "How to Improve Our Country Schools," was introduced by L. S. Bowles, who said: "Employ good teachers, pay them good wages, and parents visit the schools and do not stay at home and do the kicking."

A paper was then read by Mrs. C. R. Woodin. First of all, she would have the school house where the children spend so much of their time, comfortable, convenient, attractive and home-like. She would have the children assist in the house cleaning, and encouraged in bringing pictures for the walls, soft rugs for the floor and plants for the windows, and made to feel that they have an ownership in the house and grounds and an interest in making and keeping things nice and attractive. They would then have some responsibility and care less for mischief. She would have them consulted about the play grounds and allowed a flower garden if they so desired, and trees also. Boys like to climb trees and the girls would appreciate the shade. The most important, as well as the most difficult part, is the selection of teachers. Teachers should have special training for their work, such as the normal school affords, without which no certificate should be granted, and their experience should be obtained in the city schools under the guardianship of a principal, where they would have less responsibility and an opportunity to learn the best methods of teaching. She regards the visiting of schools by the parents more detrimental than otherwise, as it has a tendency to distract the attention of the pupils from their studies and takes the time of the teacher from his work. It is better for the teacher to visit the parents than for the parent to visit the schools.

Mrs. Devendorf said: "Our country schools might be improved by going back to the methods of fifty or sixty years ago. The old fashioned spelling book has not its equal now. She gave some specimens of modern bad spelling to show that the present method of teaching that important branch of education is not up to the old fashioned standard. Another improvement would be to give the boys and girls separate recesses." E. O. Place would have music, and Mr. Randall temperance, taught in our schools.

Our Representative thought that when his constituents demanded of him the duties of a congressman, a little more education in civil government would not come amiss.

Mr. Bristol, our county superintendent of schools, was present and gave a very pleasant talk on the subject under consideration. He said: "More attention should be given to spelling, and that sufficient stress was not placed upon making the school room pleasant. It was a mistake that mental arithmetic had been dropped in the schools; that children should not be confined in their arithmetical calculations to pencil and paper. Parents should visit schools. If the visits were more frequent and less formal, if the visitor came in at any hour and without ceremony, there would be no interruption and the nervousness of pupils and teacher would soon pass away. Teaching is an art, and model training schools should be established for educating teachers in this art." The uniform text book law he thinks a dead letter, and suggested the better plan of free text books instead.

After the criticisms on spelling by Mrs. Devendorf, the invitation from the president for remarks was not unanimously responded to, though Mr. Bristol confessed to the owning of a well worn dictionary, and Mrs. Theron Gladden admitted that her mother outranked her in the spelling branch of her education.

Rep. Shepard was elected delegate to the state association of farmers' clubs in place of E. O. Place, resigned.

A resolution was passed to the effect that the delegates to the state association be instructed to introduce the subject, and urge that all the local clubs interest themselves in securing the much needed system, of free delivery of mail in the rural districts.

Mr. and Mrs. Rush with their three promising children, one son and two lovely daughters, all contributed in making the day a red letter day for all of their guests. They have a most desirable home, and nothing seems wanting to make their lives lives of uninterrupted and unalloyed happiness.

The club adjourned to meet at the residence of Geo. T. Mason the first Thursday in January, 1898.

"HOME, SWEET HOME!" RHEUMATIC CRIPPLES

With All the Little Luxuries That Make It Happy.

Household Health Means Prosperity and Pleasure in a Hundred Ways

"Ours is a happy home," remarked a laboring man the other day, "and I have learned to thank the perfect health of its inmates for half the blessings we enjoy. Why, I remember when my house was a hospital month in and month out. This constant sickness kept my nose to the grindstone. I was always hard up—always in debt. First it would be my wife—then my eldest daughter would be taken down. The doctor's cart was always at my door. But one blessed moment of Zoa Phora—the 'woman's friend.' She tried it—so did my daughter. And it cured them both. Since that day we have had no more sickness—no more doctor's bills. There's a piano in the parlor now—we all ride wheels, and there's money in the bank beside."

Zoa Phora is the sick woman's greatest treasure. It acts gently but positively on her delicate organism—regulates—strengthens—makes way for perfect health. A book which tells of Zoa Phora, free. Write Zoa Phora Medicine Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.

Good News for Crutch Bearers. There is a Relief for You as Sure as the Sun Shines.

"Thumpety thump!"—there he hobbles, another poor unfortunate limping along life's way, with a pain-racked body and a bitter heart. But rheumatic sufferers should not give up hope. There is a cure—Rheumacure, the most natural remedy in the world. It tones up the entire system, expels all uric acid from the blood, lubricates the "creaky" joints, nourishes and vitalizes. It stops the most severe attack.

Read the experience of one who suffered:

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 28, 1896. Specific Remedy Co., Kalamazoo, Mich.: Gentlemen:—For upwards of twenty years I have suffered from Sciatic Rheumatism, during which time I have sought relief in many ways, treating with leading physicians at home and abroad, but with no approach to anything like a cure until I began the use of Rheumacure. It has been my custom to take treatment at Mount Clemens, and even European and other similar retreats, but I cannot say that they have given me, at best, more than temporary relief. I have derived more benefit in the past few months from the use of your medicine than I have from the combined use of all other medicines and treatments taken in the past twenty years, or since Rheumatism first took hold on me. I have personal knowledge of several other remarkable cures effected by Rheumacure, and truly believe it to be the greatest remedy of the age.

Faithfully yours,
